"INSIGHT 1991"
WHAT'S YOUR VISION?

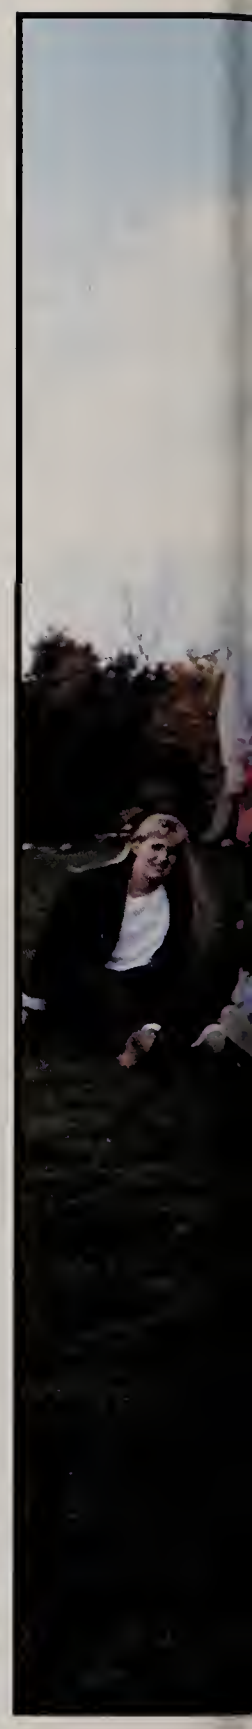
What comes to mind when you think of Weston High School? Do you picture a school filled with athletes whose lives revolve around winning the next game? Maybe you see a place containing only intellectuals who will be satisfied with no less than 1600 on their SAT's? Or is your vision somewhere else on this continuum?

INSIGHTS 1991 takes a look at the people who make up our school. It will try to discover what lies behind those faces you have become familiar with, yet don't really know. Do they have jobs? Do they have siblings? What styles are they wearing and what music do they like to dance to in the school year 1990-1991?

INSIGHTS will attempt to show you the answers to some of these questions. It will give you a chance to learn something about the students in your classes and to become more familiar with those you don't know as well.

It will also feature those important adults that are vital to the functioning of this school of ours.

We are convinced that INSIGHTS will give you some new ideas about our school; as well as show you the diversity that really DOES exist in Weston High School.



RIGHT. These creative members of the Class of 1991 are "head over heels" in love with the idea of graduating. We say "bottoms up" to our graduating Weston High School Seniors!

RIGHT. Jen Kushner and Beth Cosmi spend a relaxing "free-period" in Weston High School's lounge, more commonly known as the cafeteria.

IN SCHOOL

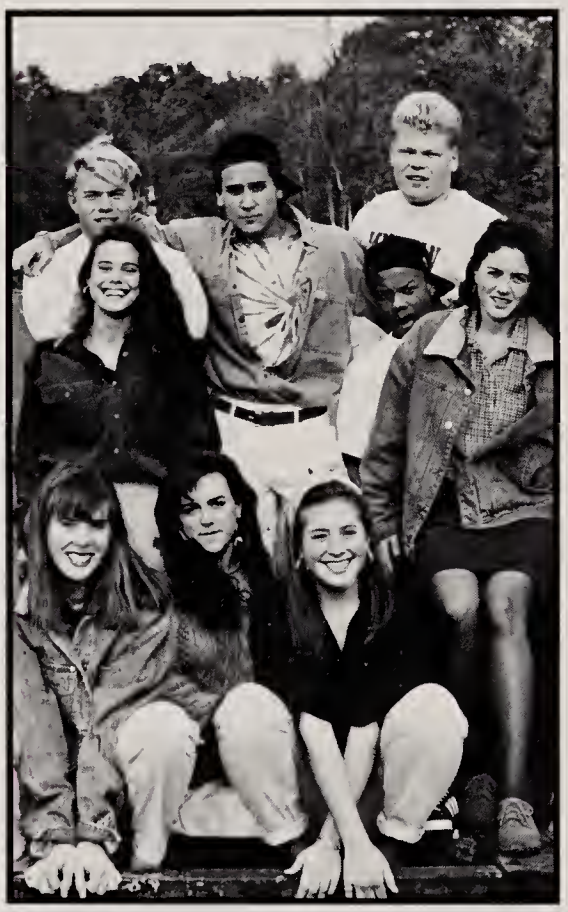
Beyond this STUDENT LIFE divider page lies a world of information about this school, and the people within it, that will blow you away! Well okay, our opening section may not be quite that spectactular, but nearly. You will find out what the Gutelius and Mohammed families have in common. Or perhaps you would like to know what the number forty means to Mrs. Hoyle.

This divider is just to help you understand that this is no ordinary STUDENT LIFE section.

Beyond the Prom memories and LOTS of Senior pictures, are some new and some returning segments that may surprise you. Wonder what a driver's license means to a Weston High School student or what Christina Ling wants to do after college? Are you up on the latest trends and what's what in the cafeteria?

Well, just turn the pages, it's all here!

BELOW. Are these "J. Crew" models or member of the class of '91? Marc Foster, Doug Neustadter, Will Widugiris, Keri Karofsky, Derick Grant, Jessica Bain, Deirdre Crane, Kelly Driscoll and Alicia Neidringhaus make up this group of assembled seniors.



RIGHT. These are the "Pink Ladies" -- Vivian Chong, Emily Wernick, Lauren Khalil, Kelli Murphy, Jessica Bain and Keri Karofsky.

RIGHT. Senior METCO members keep their poise while preventing their signs from blowing away. They are Garland Sweeting, Derick Grant, Lorrie Johnson, Tracey Beharry, Pam Dawson and Debbie Farnum.

BELOW. We are pleased to present our School Presidents, Owen Bittinger and Josie Dickson, as they joined the Senior Class during Picture Day.

TAKE A LOOK AT THE SENIORS

We are the seniors of 1991! We are individuals with diverse hopes and aspirations. And we are a class with similar roots and accomplishments. We are survivors whose abilitiies will exceed any goal and surpass any dream!

In Country, Woodland, Middle Schools, and now the High School, Weston's Class of 1991 has displayed its many talents time and time again -- academically, athletically and also socially. From bake sales to car-washes, from semi-formals to proms, from auction dinners to pancake breakfasts, from our slumber parties to other parties -- we have shown our prowess in fund-raising, in party (hell) raising, and spirit-raising.

Through twelve years of grade and high school, we have done homework, suffered exams, hunted for coll---- (oh my God, I almost said it again), won games, and worked on activities together. We have lost important members of our class, but gained others to take their place. There is one thing to show for it all: SUCCESS! Despite setbacks and obstatcles being challenged and faced, achievement through unity has been our motto--along with FUN, of course.

Being a part of the class of 1991 is not merely a title, it is a privilege--nay, an honor--nay, a way of life. Our days at Weston High School are over, but our memories, accomplishments, and friendships will remain eternal.

LEFT. Jon Moran, Lauren Khalil, Dan Jacobson, Vivian Chong, Ken Cacciatore and Kelli Murphy capture fond memories of the 1990 Prom.

After a lavish and expensive dinner at an elegant restaurant in the city, the couple travels in a limousine to Town Hall. They are well-dressed, in formal attire, for a "Night in New York". The Prom couple enters the foyer where they are immediately immersed in an authentic traffic-scene, including street signs, a blinking stop light and a checkered taxi.

After finding their names on a colorful subway map, they venture upstairs into the Broadway Room. They pause for some refreshments, while admiring the various theater memorablia scattered throughout the hall.

The uplifting music of the "Night Shift" beckons the couple to the dance floor. They enter the ballroom, where they are immediately captivated by an impressive replica of Lady Liberty. The two prom-goers meet some friends at the "Tavern on the Green" and together they admire the artistic portrayal of the cities' skyline at dusk.

The couples smile with pride. All of the Juniors' hard work has paid off -- "A Night in New York" is a great success!

Planning for the 1990 Prom began long before the prom actually occurred on May 12.

It was in November, that Michelle Neuman and Michele Fronk, the co-chairpersons of the event, organized an extremely capable group of Juniors to act as committee heads. Nathan Wheelock handled construction,and Hilary Hanson took charge of organizing the decorations. Deirdre Crane planned the refreshments, while Catherine Haley headed publicity.

Actual construction began early in March, when we began working every weekend at the Leone's Weston Sand and Gravel Garage--where there were lots of smiles, laughter and an occasional disagreement about the best way to create something. In any event, many memories and friendships were formed, while we were working on the prom scenes.

After innumerable crises, the group of spirited and involved Juniors had created "A Night in New York" guaranteed to please the prom-goers; and weeks of fun which will be remembered in the years to come.

BEHOLD, THE PARKING "LOT"

Bring the RPM's to 6000, drop the clutch, and spin those tires like their rubber is going out of style. No, this is not the Indianapolis 500, but the Weston High School parking lot!

Of course, not everybody drives like Emerson Fittipaldi or Boddy Rahal. For most, the "lot" is just a place to park your car before entering the ominous halls of Weston High School. Arriving at seven-forty does not guarantee a "good spot", i.e., one in the row located closest to the school. By half-past, the sacred row is gone, and the journey, that is so cold on winter mornings, manages to somehow become a little bit colder and a little bit longer.

In the afternoons, the lot is a place to meet your friends to take a quick run to Papa's, or just to talk for a few minutes before going home to grab your new issue of "Car and Driver" or to get started on your homework. Granted, some kids will validate their membership to the "Burnout Club of America" by screeching their way out of the lot. Most, though, will slowly get into their cars and pull away smoothly, only to return sixteen hours later for another trek from the "lot" to the High School's front doors.

-Adam J. Weiner '91

RIGHT. Alex Cobb enjoys the convenience of being able to leave school with the aid of a car. No need for bus rides anymore!

LEFT. Jessica Ferri show us the "in" car of the 90's. There are about twenty-five makes of Jeep parked in the parking lot throughout the week.

FAR LEFT. John Moran, Dan Milstead and Chris McShane also enjoy the parking lot as a hang-out.

EXCITING AND SIGNIFICANT ADULTS

Behind the students in our class, there are always those adults who help keep us on track and steer us in a successful direction. These people have led our class through thick and thin, success and failure, happiness and pain -- from Freshman Orientation to Graduation. The duffle bag sale, the Sophomore Semi-formal, the Junior Auction, the Prom, the Thanksgiving Day Pancake Breakfast, the Senior Holiday Party, the Senior Banquet, The Post-Graduation Trip -- you name it, they've always been there to lend a helping hand.

Mr. V's unfailing enthusiasm and energy, along with Mrs. C's brilliancy and creative ingenuity, have carried our class through Weston High School with distinction and honor. We couldn't, and wouldn't, have done it without them.

Our three class mothers -- Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Khalil, and Mrs. Murphy -- were a source of constant support to the class and always ready to add that extra little constructive comment or idea which helped make all of our events just perfect.

Mrs. Siegel assisted us in considering possible future careers by introducing the "One-To-One" program. Her wonderful pictures helped make the school more exciting and were invaluable in producing a successful Yearbook.

Most of us would have been in deep trouble without the help of our guidance counselors -- Mr. Chandler, Mrs.Fishman, and Mr. Ryan.

Three cheers for our advisors, mentors, and moms!

Mr. Verovsek, Mrs. Cottle, Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Khalil, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Siegel, Mr. Chandler, Mrs. Fishman, and Mr. Ryan: Thanks for everything from the Class of 1991. -Christina Ling

NEW DIRECTIONS

On October 12, 1990, the Student Council, the Class Councils, the advisors and parent advisors met at Case House for a dynamic day of planning and fun. We first heard encouraging words from Dr. Meredith Jones, our superintendent; and David Cope, the Weston Youth Counselor, new to the school system this year. Off to a great start, the adults moved upstairs and the students loosened up with an ice-breaker. The exercise included some odd questions: what kind of fruit we would most like to be and what we didn't do over the summer. You can imagine, with the characters we have in leadership positions, that the answers were very amusing.

Moving onward, we split into our respective groups to spend time planning upcoming events and isolating our goals for the school year. Next, we reconvened as a large group to have an interactive discussion with Steven Cohen titled "Facing History and Ourselves, Individual Responsibility." Mr. Cohen helped us to realize the wide number of possibilities for growth in leadership roles, not only on a personal level but a school wide level as well.

After a lunch break, each class president and vice-president gave a run-down of their tasks and important dates. The co-presidents spoke of the Student Council goals.

After closing remarks from Mrs. Marsh and Mr. Beevers and thank-you's to all involved, we adjourned. Each of us returned to the High School with a greater sense of direction and positive thoughts of the endless accomplishments possible before June.

TAKE A LOOK AT OUR "SIBLINGS"

You hate them, yet you love them.

You leave them but somehow, beyond your control, you always seem to come back.

They are the last people to give you money for a second lunch, but the first in line to give you a sucker punch.

These are the people you seem to take advice from, but always do the opposite.

We take our brothers and sisters for granted but, deep down inside, we love them with all our might.

Well, this is for you siblings!

WE INVITE YOU TO WATCH US RECYCLE

Recycle! Reuse! These commands, and the resulting actions, are being heard and seen all over Weston High School.

For a program that was introduced just last year, recycling is experiencing great popularity and participation. The Student Council initiated the effort by recycling the styrofoam in the cafeteria last year. This year, while that continues, the paper from all over the school is being recycled.

Students for Environmental Action work with the Student Council to organize the "recycle box" delivery and pickup. All this occurs under the direction of Mr. Stasik, whose eighth-grade Earth Science class we all remember with great fondness.

Weston has its very own "Earth Day" every Tuesday, when the beautiful new Earth flag is raised and recycling boxes are emptied. Masses of students, bearing back-breaking boxes of paper, make their way through rain, wind and snow to the wooden recycle box, they recently built, located by the observatory. It's not a pleasant job, but the results are satisfying.

"You don't realize how much paper is being wasted until you see it all together out of the trash flow," recyclyer Jen Weisman comments. Jen knows about paper, because every week she empties the box from the Xerox Room. This area wins the dubious distinction of amassing more waste paper than any other spot in the school.

Students and teachers alike are getting used to thinking twice before throwing things into the trash. Their environmental awareness and enthusuastic participation is what's making the recycling program so successful. The Social Awareness Group and the Student Council would like to thank everyone for their participation.

SEE THE TRENDS

BELOW. Back-packs are chic!! This is aptly exhibited by Jamal Fuller, John Beevers, Jess Ferri and Steve Harris.

"Mom, can I have some money to buy those?"

"You don't need those, why do you want them?"

"Mom, I just have to have them!"

"Why?"

"Mom, EVERYONE has them!"

"Why do you always have to have what everyone else has? Why can't you be just a little different?"

"Mom! You don't understand!"

Every year, WHS is bombarded with tons of trends. Trends are those things you want, but don't necessarily need.

This year, J.Crew took the lead in mesmerizing the Weston student body. Bottled water has captured another huge market. The majority of the guys all own, and wear, at least one baseball hat and this fall they've been spotted wearing earrings, not to mention the Dip in their mouths.

Our parking lot seems to have acquired a trend of its own, as we see Jeep after Jeep come into the lot. European cars are also 'in.'

Trends come and go, but this year some of the most obvious have been: LL Bean Book Bags -- Rugby's -- Shorter Hair -- Bass Bucks -- The Natural Look -- Velvet --Diet Coke -- Nike Airs -- Mass Pike Burger King -- Anoraks -- Scrunchies -- Suede -- Leather -- Vanilla Ice --French Rolls (Pants) -- Fringe -- Leather Gloves -- Cut-offs. -Christina Ling

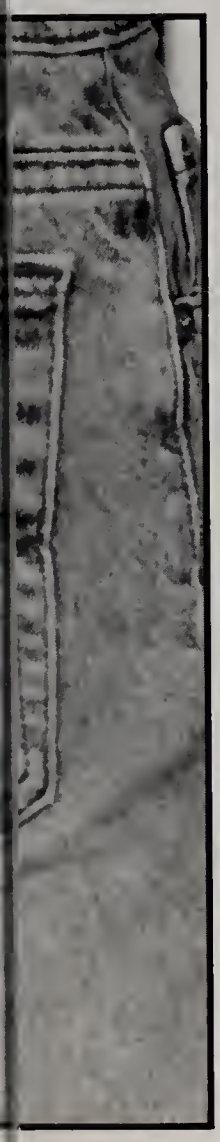
BELOW. Coca-cola, there is magic in the real thing!

LEFT. Um, mouth cancer much? What a dip. This was one person's proud stash. (Thanks for the case, Chris.)

FAR LEFT. J. Crew is neato and peachy keen!



ABOVE. And to "cap" things off (cheesy) we have Roman Savino, Doug Neustadter, Chris Riis, Steve Harris, Chris McShane, and Marc Foster.

LEFT. Drivin' Jeeps - they are Jennie Kushner, Caity Corbiere, Mer Melling, and Beth Cosimi.

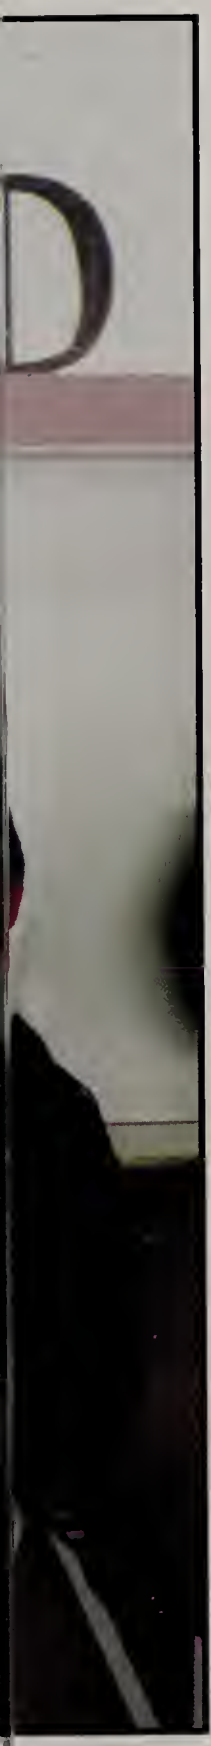
BELOW. And what is Kerry Sommers doing? She is displaying the art of chair-stacking, of course.

RIGHT. Chris Riis, lounging against the cafeteria radiator, checks his money supply before going to purchase some breakfast.

FAR RIGHT. These three students --Chris Knight, Ken Mohammed, and Seiko Allen -- enjoy the cafeteria as one of their favorite hang-outs.



DO YOU UNDERSTAND CAFETERIA LIFE?

"Hey do you know where everyone's going tonight?"

"Yeah. Nowhere."

"Oh, really? What time should I be there?"

The above dialogue probably wouldn't make sense to most people, but to someone who hangs around in the right parts of the cafeteria, it might sound very familiar. You see, the "caf" is more than just a place to eat lunch. In fact, lunch is one of the less important things that happens in it. You are more likely to see someone hiding from the Attendance Office before signing into school, or frantically piecing together a Freud project for Senior Social Science, rather than eating a sandwich. Plans are made, dates are arranged, and windows are covered with controversial school newspaper articles and "No Dough, No Flow" signs. Interested party-goers need only stand by the radiator for a few minutes and they are sure to find out where the weekend action is.

But you can't forget food. I mean, after all, that's the primary function of the cafeteria, right? Breakfast is deliciously unhealthy, lunch is decent if ridiculously expensive, and periodic visits from the Lance Man ease the pangs of many hungry students. We even resort to using the juice and snack machines. Though roughly half the cans from the Coke machine are used as tobacco spitoons, we're all grateful for the afternoon refreshment it provides.

Just about everything is recycled in the cafeteria these days. Despite the fact that it takes a mechanical engineer to figure out which way to drop the lunch trays in the receptacle to make them fit correctly, it's a fairly good system.

Our school store can help you out if you've got the sniffles, with tissues and cough drops; and of course, the usual pencils and notebooks.

Whether it's leaning on the radiator with the seniors or crowded around a table with the freshmen, everyone's got a place in the cafeteria.

-Class of '91

LOOKING BACK

It was everything from slumber parties to car washes and birthdays to bas mitzvahs. It was kickball and "The Last of the Really Great Whangdoodles."

Who can forget the Letter People and Mr. Kattef's green life preserver? Mrs. Anderson's music classes and "Insect Day" will always remain in our hearts. Wimmydiddles, spelling bees, Greek myths, China Night, and the Logo Turtle have always been part of the class of 1991.

We played 7-Up during lunch, used the Lenichek cross-check in math, and snatched coins off our elbows. We sold Girl Scout cookies, ate Girl Scout cookies, received wimples for selling our magazines door-to-door, and we wasted entire days of school looking at each others' crazy science projects at the Invention Convention.

What remains of those children who slide-tackled each other in BAYS and waltzed together at the Meadowbrook dancing school? Or those of us who competed in the Pinebox Derby and blew all of our quarters at Fun & Games? From our first grade play, "Mother Goose;" to our Washington and Quebec trips; up through our coll--- hunts (can't say the "c" word!); the class of 1991 has grown from silly, freckled girls and boys into mature, capable young adults who are ready to face the world.

WHAT'S IN THE FUTURE?

"What do you want to be when you grow up?"

This frequently asked question, from younger days, has a frightening need to be answered in this our Senior year.

What does the future hold for members of the class of 1991, anyway? The main thought process, for the seniors at Weston, involves planning for college (there, I said the "c" word) and becoming involved in the time-consuming efforts needed to fill out the applications and make college visits. Many of us haven't made many plans beyond that point. But some of the students are a step ahead of the rest of us, already having made decisions about what they want to do after college.

Do you know what Sam Hunt wants to do after college? Play professional football? No! His future ambition is to be an architectural designer.

Michele Fronk has changed her mind about being a marine biologist and has decided to pursue the career of a registered nurse.

Are there other seniors who have made fairly definite decisions about their futures? Check out this page to see what a few of you had to say!

"I have been introduced to the Hospitality Industry through my parent's work in restaurants. I really like the work and chose Hotel Management because I think it would be challenging."

BELOW. Mrs. Hoyle tells an eager student some of her famous keyboarding tips.

RIGHT. Here we see Mrs. Hoyle working long and hard on her computer in an effort to clear up a "glitch."

For her forty years of dedication to Weston High School, the Class of 1991 respectfully dedicates INSIGHT 91 to Mrs. Thelma Hoyle.

Mrs. Hoyle, that wonderful, giving person who heads the Business Department, has been a role model for colleagues and students alike. With her knowledge, patience, and smiles, she has won the hearts of all who surround her. She is, in the classic definition of the work, a true "lady."

Whether or not things go her way, Mrs. Hoyle's warmth and caring never fades. She has alway been devoted to her students and their interests above all else. For what other reason would she have driven l.6 times around the earth to come to Weston? That's right, in 40 years, Mrs. Hoyle has driven an unbelievable 400,000 miles -- just from home to WHS and back.

Among her many accomplishments are: Massachusett's Business Educator of the Year '73; member of the State Commission of Occupational Education '79; President of the Commercial Director's Club of Greater Boston '59; member of National Business Educator's Association, Publication Committee; member of Massachusett's Business Education Director's Accociation Board of Directors; Advisor to WHS News and Views. Mrs. Hoyle has been published in "Business Education World" and has been the featured speaker at business education meetings. Our resident "Renaissance Woman" lists cooking, travel, reading, and architecture as her hobbies.

Nobody at WHS will ever forget Mrs. Hoyle's typing classes, computer lessons, and business tips. Teaching at Weston was her first job, and we hope she makes it her last. Keep on smiling for another forty years, Mrs. Hoyle!

IN PERSON

Weston High is a perfect place to grow. While tucked among the trees of a quiet suburban town, we have the bustle of Boston just down the road. The High School community offers a diverse range of activities that are bound to suit every taste. With many sports offered each season, frequent plays, three publications and other academically oriented clubs, we are all kept busy. Some of us choose after school or week-end jobs to provide us with some extra cash, to gain experience in the "real world," or to set us on the road to financing a college education. No matter what we choose to do in our free time, it is clear that Weston High is a place where students are involved and where learning and having fun go hand-in-hand.

Meet the "personnel" who make this place run.

Sahar M. Al-Rayyes February 26

At the begining of this year, I was afraid that I would not be able to do well in my studies. After having to leave my school and my friends in Kuwait, I was doubtful about being able to communicate with people and to read and write in English. However, as the term progresses, with the encouragement of my great teachers and super counselor, it looks like
I might be able to pull through.
And finally I'd like to thank everyone who has helped me to overcome the difficulties I've faced.

The little cares that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday,
Among the fields above the sea,
Among the winds at play,
Among the lowing of the herds,
The rustling of the trees,
Among the singing of the birds,
the humming of the bees.
The foolish fears of what might pass,
I cast them all away
Among the clover-scented grass,
Among the new-mown hay,
Among the rustling of the corn,
Where drowsy poppies nod,
Where ill thoughts die and good are born
Out in the fields with God!

Since I was Young I never had a Damn thing. At Christmas time I hated hear the bells ring, because in the ghetto santa doesn't have a dime. Where I survive there is big crime. In the ghetto, the system has blacks geared to kill, but what I call home you would call hell. My ghetto quarters aren't better than a jail cell. There's a message in this story I'm trying to tell. My life on earth is hell, but when I die I'm going to hell again. -Kool G Rap

Looking Toward the End

The Juniors, a close family of 115 members, have been with each other through twelve years and four schools. Although new students have joined the class, and others have left, our group has achieved many of the goals it set out to accomplish.

This year demonstrated the potential we possess together--from the Auction to Oriental Mystique (the Junior Prom), we were very successful. More importantly, the majority of us have now gained a new freedom, having passed the road test.

So with just one year remaining until we graduate, we've really just about done it all, and look forward to returning and confronting our last obstacles at Weston High School. Come September, the Juniors will return to live up to our final challenge--being Seniors. Or maybe we should say we will "live it up" during our senior year.

Getting a Glimpse of the Middle

Yes, the Sophomore Class has made it from the lowly position of being freshmen. We are just getting a glimpse of what it's like being at the mid-point of our years in high school--real upperclassmen and we like it. Yes, next year we'll be Juniors.

From sports to theater arts, from raffles to Weston-Wayland dances, this year has been great, really showing the talents and organizational abilities that the sophomore class possesses.

Despite the feeling of being ostracized by the upperclassmen during our freshman year, we have come into the knowlege that it is not what others think of you, but what you think of yourself that really matters. And we feel good about our class.

As we approach our junior year, I believe that we will continue to grow individually and collectively to achieve academic and social excellence.

We Saw, We Liked!

On September 5, 1990, our Orientation Day, 106 Freshmen shuffled through the doors of Weston High School. Many kids were excited to be back, but some kids were saying, "What am I doing here?"

As we were directed around the school, we were asking, "How will we ever find our way?" We did make it through orientation, but then came the hard part, "The First Day of School!"

As we climbed aboard the yellow school buses that morning, there was terror in people's eyes. "Would we get picked on by the upper-classmen?" "Would we get lost at school?" " And would we like our teachers and our classes?"

Most of us could answer "Yes" to the questions above by the end of the first day and most of us would probably rename the first day of school "Mass Confusion." But as the first week passed, we started to get comfortable with the new situation. By the time September was over, we felt like we really belonged at our new school and could even look the upperclassmen in the eye.

After spending a year at Weston High School, our fears are gone and we are looking forward to our future years.

Mr. Chandler's Memories

In 1948, when I was a senior at Weston High School, the high school was located at Brooks School. During the year, the school burned down, with one death resulting. It was necessry to hold school in Waltham for the remainder of the year.

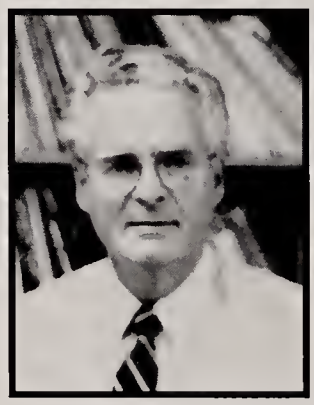
Ms. Kaplan's Most Embarrassing Moment

Since coming to Weston this year, I haven't taught long enough to have had a lot of embarrassing things happen in the classroom. The day I came to school wearing one black and one blue shoe stands out in my mind as the most memorable. Just give me time, however and I'm sure I'll have lots of embarrassing times to remember.



Mr. Jordan's Most Embarrassing Moment

In January 1979, as I was trying to move a valve from one hydrogen tank to another, I inadvertently opened the valve and couldn't get it closed. In a matter of seconds, highly inflammable hydrogen occupied the area. In a matter of minutes, the entire student body (about 960) was sent to the gym. Eventually they got the afternoon off and I got to blush a lot.

IN VOLVED

At Weston High School, students are urged to take advantage of the numerous clubs and organizations that are offered . . . or not offered . . . start your own! Between those academic crunches and those strenuous practices, there's always a moment to relax and be heard in the Announcer's Club, to be creative and write for any of our literary clubs, or lend a helping hand to an eighth grader by joining our Peer Advising. Are you environmentally concerned? Join the Students For Environmental Action. Be a leader and guide your classmates toward your goals by running for Student Council.

Don't be satisfied with studying for a test and doing homework. Participate in class AND have fun by getting involved outside of class as well! If you can't decide on an activity, help out with YEARBOOK!

STUFF AND NONSENSE

Ahem . . . What? What's this stuff - Nonsense? No. Just sit and chat a while. We'll figure something out - eventually.

Only to answer the questions. True or false - what'll it be? Is language the problem, or are you just deficient? Worry that you don't dig yourself a pit. Rational, follow logic. Yes, Yes. Something to do. In Room 30. During Wednesday's Conference. B Mac, us . . . hm. Wow!

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council Rules! We are Weston High's resource for altering school policy to meet your requests.

Our Mission: to make the school a better place to be whenever we can - from dances, to assemblies, to food drives, to trying to beautify the school.

The Method: Meeting Tuesday Conference Periods in Room 200 with Mr. Beever's, our advisor. Remember, you're invited.

Our Eyes on Counseling

PEER COUNSELING

The Eighth grade students of Weston Middle School get a head start on High School life even before they set foot in "The Caf." They have a chance to ask questions about school, parties, drugs, alcohol, sex, anything they want to know about "growing-up," and we, the Juniors and Seniors, have the opportunity to answer them and to share our experiences and our feelings. This year, Mrs. Carol Ott, David Cope and Ms. Bevin Carmichael, led a team of eighty Juniors and Seniors toward a promising experience.

SADD

Students against Driving Drunk, wanted a different approach this year. Instead of just being another club, we wanted to have the participation of the entire student body. We felt that involvement from our athletic teams, our clubs and the Student Council would help to promote the importance of not driving while under the influence.

We're not telling you, "don't drink," or "don't drive." We're asking you, "please don't drink AND drive."

Inside the Business World

FUTURE BUSINESS

Business was booming this year. Well, maybe not for the economy, but business related activities at WHS took on a new intensity this year. Members of FBLA put their talents to work in the AT&T Investment Challenge, a simulated stock market game where players manage their own stock portfolios, each being worth $500,000. FBLA participants also had guest speaker come to give tips on finance and investment, and they went on field trips to educate themselves on what the real business world is like.

BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCIL

The BAC, headed by Thelma Hoyle, spent the majority of the year reviewing the Business Department's educational objectives and overall achievement. Their efforts have helped the business department define its goals and also to strenghten the overall business program at WHS.

STOCKYARD

The student-run store was a great success this year. It looks wonderful and certainly enhances the appearance of the cafeteria. It's prospects are sure to increase in the near future, for no other reason than the dedicated work put into by our students.

A Look at

The Inside News

All the budding poets, novelists and journalists of Weston High are kept busy writing for our three literary publications: WildCat Tracks, the school newspaper; and the two literary magazines, Maelstrom and the Humor Magazine.

WILDCAT TRACKS

Wildcat Tracks started the year off strong with the longest edition of its history, ten pages. Alex Cobb, editor and chief, promises that the next editions will be as long, if not longer.

MAELSTROM

Maelstrom has also gotten off to a strong start. The pile of papers in the Maelstrom folder on Ms. Busse's desk grows larger every day. Every Tuesday, if you walk by Ms. Busse's room, you will see numerous students reading and voting upon the stories that will be selected for publication. This year's editor feels that Maelstrom will be a particularly good edition.

HUMOR MAGAZINE

The Humor Magazine, started by Tara Walpert this year, has gotten off to a slow start, but hopes to produce at least one publication before the school year is over. If you have "humorous" stories ,or works of art, you would like to see in publication, they are precisely what Tara is looking for.

So, for all the literary buffs at Weston High, there is certainly plenty to do. Join one of the publications. Remember, we also need talented writers for the Yearbook. Think about writing copy for Panorama next year.

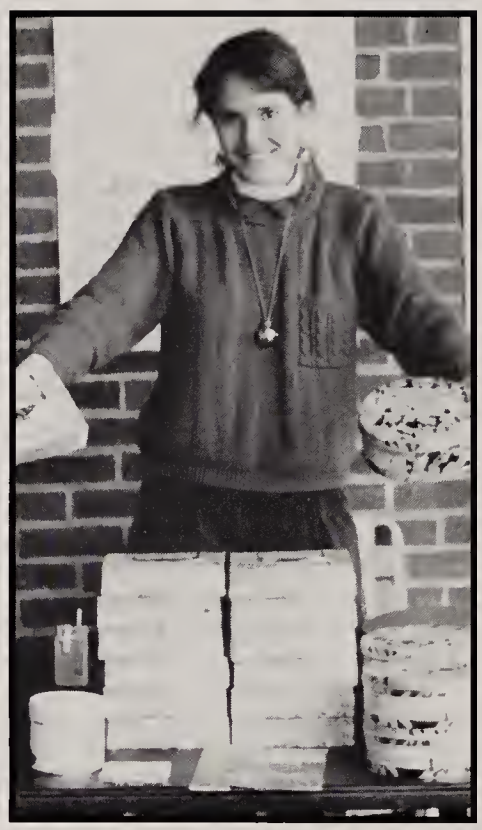
The Future - SEA

BELOW. Jill Foley sells Rain-forest candy for SEA.

FAR BELOW. These are involved SEA members -- Maggie Bittinger, Elissa Kiskaddon, and Sharon Holdsworth.



STUDENTS FOR ENVIRONTAL ACTION

The students in SEA are dedicated people who care about our world. The year got off to a good start when they participated in two Boston area beach clean-ups.

In school, they joined forces with the Student Council to successfully recycle paper. Their biggest accomplishment is rain forest preservation. Through fund-raising by selling "Rain-forest" candy and snacks, they raised enough money to save twenty-two acres of Central American rain forest, an area equivalent to the acreage of our school grounds.

SOCIAL AWARENESS CLUB

This is a new club this year. The individuals involved (socially conscious as they are) sponsored group participation in a dance in Boston to benefit AIDS care and research. Among the club's list of accomplishments is a warm clothes drive for the homeless, helping out at Rosie's Place and making holiday cards for the people at Brook School Apartments.

ANIMAL AWARENESS CLUB

This club consists of compassionate students who love animals. They held a successful home-made dog-bone sale and used the money to adopt a whale. Members hope to raise awareness of animal abuse and to also help people appreciate the beauty and value of animals.

MATH TEAM

Math Team. . . the unsung heroes of WHS. Led by the amazing tri-captains--Neel Shah, Tara Walpert, and Angela Wong--this year's team has continued the Weston tradition by becoming champions of the small school's division in Eastern Massachusetts.

During each meet, the team is spurred on by Mr. McCowan's promise of a pizza in exchange for a perfect score. Of course, the promise is an easy one to keep, considering that the number of Weston perfect scores from the past three years could probably be counted on one hand.

The new freshmen members should prove to be even more of a powerhouse as they become team veterans, but the seniors would like to say that the mathematicians of '91 have always been, and always will be #-eπ.

SCIENCE TEAM

As the Math Team climbs towards the peak of success, the Science Team is building the bridge that will take them there. Well, maybe not, but they are building bridges. . . and airplanes, and buildings.

We can't get enough of geometry.
Factoring polynomial quadratic stuff,
When we've found the answers, it still ain't enough.

Tangent, cosine, a bunch of trig,
We solve those equations that are really BIG.
We scratch our heads when we are stuck.
But sometimes we just don't give a -- hoot.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

These students are interested in culturallly enriching activities. Under the leadership of Michelle Neuman and Christina Ling, the club organized the annual Send-a Treat for Halloween and also sold teddy bear ornaments during the holiday season. A cooking lesson with chefs from around the world at the Ritz Carlton, a make-your-own pizza party, and watching foreign films were among the club's exciting activities.

The International Club also sponsors speakers to to discuss foreign issues. The ultimate goal of the members and the advisors, Ms. daCosta and Mrs. Wohlers, is for participants to explore new cultures while having fun.

ROMBAS

Rombas welcomes foreign exchange students and helps them to adjust to Weston life. Regis Fort, '91, from Rombas, France, was an active International Clubber, and a valuable member of the soccer and track teams. Laura Baumvol, a sophomore from Porto Alegre, Brazil, helped out the Swim Team. We hope that Regis and Laura enjoyed studying in America! Lisa Berkovitz '91 participated in Weston's half of the exchange by spending the year in Rombas, France.

THEATRE COMPANY

Ah yes - all the world is indeed a stage, and we, the Weston High Theatre Company, are merely the players. Happily we shall play for you, performing our magical histrionics. Our trade will be a gift for you, be it acting, designing, building, directing, or writing. Come one come all, come on to the show!

The production put on this fall was "The Good Woman of Setzuan" by Bertoit Brecht, who is widely regarded as the greatest dramatist since Shakespeare. His plays are very unlike those we see in most popular theater today, in that actors jump in and out of character with narrative and songs that do not blend neatly with the action.

"Good Woman" was this kind of play--controversial with no answers to the issues of good and bad which were presented in it. As such, it left its audience unsettled, and maybe a little irritated, which is probably just what the author had in mind.

The play was about Shen Te, who had a hard time being a woman because everyone thought she was too frail and delicate. She then changed into Shui Ta, a man of power and agression. This precipitated the dilemma of rest of the play in which the final ending, and Shen Tu's future, was left for the audience to decide.

DEBATE CLUB

Although everyone has heard of the Announcer's Club, have you every wondered what the Art and Debate Clubs are? They do exist!

Mr. Moran heads up the Art Club, which was busy running events for this year's Beaux Arts Ball.

The Debate Club is run by Mr. Ver ovsek. The club meets infrequently, but when it does sparks fly! Its members debate over all sorts of controversial issue--political, social and economic. They look forward to competition.

While the Debate and Art Clubs are heard from less than their Announcing counterpart, when they do meet, they create and debate up storms.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

As time has gone by, the music department has decreased in size, but has increased in sound. Although the band was small this year, the sounds and music the kids made together was glorious. With the help of some eager Middle School students, the director of the band Ron Mori, led his crew with his head high. As one might know, it's difficult to conduct a Concert band with only a couple of kids on each instrument, but with the talent of these musicians and their willingness to try, each could hold his own and produce wonderful sounds.

The orchestra group stayed as strong and elite as it was last year. We had only lost a few seniors from the previous year, but the members this year proved their excellence by performing magnificant concerts. Yes, they too are a small group, but a group with many outstanding abilities and great potential. Again directed by Ron Mori, he is quite proud of his dedicated students.

We are all very proud of our talented instrumentalists and hope that they reach their goals. We are also proud of the many students that were accepted and were able to perform in the Northeastern Senior District Festival.

Music to our Ears

You may not know what lies behind the doors of the auditorium, but if you listen closely you can hear the sweet melody of the singers of Weston High School. This year there was an increase in talent to the music department with incoming freshmen and groups such as the Pralines and the Town Criers.

All these dedicated and inspired singers spend a lot of time to make their annual concerts the best possible. These concerts, however, would not be anything without the work and guidance of Mrs. Taggart. She selects, teaches and plays the music, and is always there, before and after class, to help her students. It takes patience to organize such a large number of kids to successfully perform pieces such as Magnificat and Cats. All the melodious sounds of the choral groups are exhibited in the Winter and Spring Concerts.

The Pralines, if one does not already know, is not a chocolate cluster of almonds. It is, instead, a nine girl a capella madrigal singing group which meets and practices weekly. The Pralines sing for high school concerts and for functions outside the school as well. They've sung for Northeastern University, Fanuel Hall, and many other places. Pralines is led by seniors Kathleen Galligan, Vivian Chong and Kate Rossiter.

CONCERT CHOIR

Concert Choir is one of Weston High School's most select choral groups and it meets as a class. This is a five credit course which requires of a lot of hard work, just like any other full-year course. The members have to practice weekly. In addition they must attend Girl's Glee, Mixed Chorus and Boys Glee Club rehearsals. Being in Concert Choir is both a time commitment and a privilege.

Concert Choir members are recognized for singing Christmas carols in the Middle and High School halls during the the Christmas holidays. This year members of Concert Choir also sang at the Golden Ball Tavern.

MIXED CHORUS

This chorus is a combined group of female and male singers and all of them are people who really like to sing. It is the largest singing group in the school and really is quite good, I might add.

BOY'S CHORUS

Boy's Chorus consists of a very small, but strong, group of singers--with its members all very talented and musical. It has managed to become one of the most loved and entertaining groups in our concerts.

TRIATHALON CLUB

What motivates a Weston High School student to join the Triathalon Club?

A: His or her intense desire to be physically fit?

B: His or her intense desire to run, swim and bike?

C: His or her intense desire to have an extra picture in the yearbook?

We'll let you decide for yourself, but for the record, Triathalon Club members do show an interest in running, swimming, and bicycling.

As for competition, the club had an impressive, undefeated, (and unchallenged) year. Good work guys!!

CYCLING CLUB

The Cycling Club is new to Weston High this year. Started in September by Cara Lippman, the club acquired thirty members at the Activities Fair.

Bike rides will be organized to Cape Cod, and all around Massachusetts for the spring. We hope to have a great season. Hope we can get rolling.

SKI TEAM

The Weston High School Ski Team began its fourth season during the winter of 1990-91. We have a respectable racing team in the Wachusett Mountain league. The Ski Team also features a recreational aspect.

VIEWING AND LEARNING

CLOSE-UP

Each year, in March, students travel to Washington D.C., for a week, to see how the government works and runs. In addition to debating political topics, they have the opportunity to meet kids from all across the country. With days full of seminars, meetings and tours, however, the week is a busy one.

This cultural experience is open to all sophomores, juniors and seniors and is highly recommended by all who have participated.

BRIDGES

Bridges consists of a group of kids who meet to discuss topics such as peer pressure, interracial relationships, sex, parent-child relationships and so on. We have two great leaders, Mr. Fuller and the youth counselor, Dave Cope. They allow the members to express their feelings and ideas about each situation we have discussed.

Role playing, followed by questions, is another way that the members can put themselves in a situation and see both sides of a problem. Bridges is great way to deal with your feelings in a confidential atmosphere.

CHEERLEADERS

Do it, do it, do it. Let's do it. Do it, do it, do it. Let's do it. STOP, let the Cheerleaders do it! AND WE DID IT!!

All the support from the fans and other students helped us get through the season. We'll admit, we did have problems, but we survived. The guys played a great season and we only lost one game.

In his speech at the football banquet, Marc Foster said that there's a connection between the players and the cheering squad because the only game they lost was the one we weren't at.

We've been through it all--the rain, extremely cold temperatures--and we enjoyed it. The guys played some great ball and we hope they will do it again next year. We'll be out there with you.

VIDEO YEARBOOK

Video tapes of the entire year + an advanced Amiga graphics computer + popular songs = what? Memories that will last a lifetime until you wear the tape out! The Video Yearbook is in its second year, following the great success of the first Video Yearbook. We learned from last year's mistakes, and the 90-91 Video Yearbook will be even better.

With the Video Yearbook, a student can see the memories of a school year for an entire lifetime. We hope for more successful years.

Insight into an Accomplishment

It's done! The yearbook staff is proud and in awe of what we have produced. The hours of time spent during the day, after school and on weekends have finally paid off. It is an immense accomplishment!

The job seemed simple enough in September.

Choosing a theme and deciding on colors and layouts for each page seemed a relatively easy task.

However, all of a sudden, we realized that there were deadlines to be met and pictures to take. Our photography editor, Dana Bille, spent many long afternoons and nights in the dark room. Emily Wernick and Hilary Hanson, our advertising editors, spent an abundance of time recruiting sponsors and selling advertising space.

It would be lying to say that this was a stressless job. Yet, the satisfaction of seeing the product o our efforts makes every thing seem worthwhile.

A GLIMPSE

OF THE ARTS

FINE ARTS WEEK

Fine Arts Week was a time when all of the students and teachers could relax after exams and the end of the first semester, while getting a taste of culture.

During the week there were many opportunities to listen to music, go dancing, see art sculptures and paintings, attend movies and the theater. Two of the big pleasers, this year, were opportunities to see the movie "Dance With Wolves" and the play "The Aristocrats." Another big hit was the novelty act, "Beau Jest" which performed as an assembly.

Fine Arts Week was a time when people could experience and learn about the arts, something we all take for granted. Although many kids thought that it was great that we didn't have all our classes, most of them learned something else about life. One thing we determined is that learning isn't only math and English, it is also about seeing beautiful things and listening to beautiful forms of sound.

It seemed that the teachers enjoyed the activities of the week. They were provided an opportunity to participate, as they weren't so bogged down with their work.

Fine Arts Week is a relatively new tradition and will, hopefully, be continued in future years. Thanks to Mrs. Siegel and Mrs. Marsh for making this possible for all of us and for a job well done.!

IN TRAINING

The summer has unfortunately passed away, the relaxation is over and the work is about to begin. The proud members of the various Wildcat teams assemble for the first day of practice and the sacrifices for victory begin.

"Successful" has become a word synonomous with Weston High School sports. Regardless of the season or the sport, or whether done by the team or an individual, opponents fear the Wildcats. Yes, DCL titles are commonplace with many of our teams. Those teams that are not always victorious are well known for their grittiness and determination.

When the sweat dries and the tears of joy or sorrow are wiped away, the athletes will look back with pride knowing that even if they did not win, they competed and, more importantly, wore their maroon and white with class.

STAND TALL
ON THE FIELD

In the fall of 1990, the Weston High School Football Team rose from the ashes with a record season of 8 -1 -1. To cap off the year, they defeated Wayland in the traditional Thanksgiving Day rivalry.

Weston's explosive offense was led by the startling performances of Cy Butler, Marc Foster, and Chris DiBennedetto. The team'sdefense, led by Roman Savino, was a reflection of the coaches philosphy to be unrelenting to opposing offenses.

The high light of the season came when Weston defeated Wayland in an emotional 20-13 victory. The win was of more value to the seniors than anyone else, for it was a great way to end their last year of football at Weston. There is no question, however, that it was also a great morale booster for the whole team.

This year's team was enthusiastic, determined and "together" in, as coach would say, "being a team rather than individuals." We were as one-as the team stood together through the good and bad times. The underclassmen helped make this victorious season possible through their hard work in the off-season.

We predict that next year's team will be even better as they seek Weston's first Superbowl Championship in Division 4. The underclassmen are loaded with talent, skill, desire, and experience. These factors will help in the quest for an undefeated season.

SWIFT KICK IN THE GRASS

The 1990 Boy's Soccer season did not go exactly as planned by second-year coach Bill Wright. It was a season with high expectations, but ended as a season of experimentation.

Through the first-half of the season, the team experienced much adversity. The Varsity squad had fifteen solid players headed by co-captains Ken Cacciatori and Eric Lu. Unfortunately injuries slowed the progress of the team; the major one being to Steve Bonner who has showed excellent potential. But the games lost were not without a lesson; that being that each individual must give 101 per cent every game.

Beyond the obvious lesson learned, experience was gained on the field. On a team consisting of only four seniors, the Wildcats had many underclassmen playing. Some of them are: Ben "hair cut" Smith, a freshman who shall help the team in many years to come; Levon: "dance" Kurkjian, a sophomore destined to lead this team in the future; Dan Jacobson, who did not receive the recognition he deserved in goal this year; and Peter "ladies man" Sheppard.

Junior Varisty Coach, Buford Leathers, enjoyed his first year and taught the younger guys to keep working because they will have their day in the sun.

The team ended a disappointing season on a very positive note. During the last two weeks of the season, the team posted a two wins, one loss, and two ties record. Hopefully this taste of success will inspire the ten returning varsity players and the sub-varsity members to work harder over the off-season.

Best wishes to the graduating seniors--Chris Riis, John Beevers, Chris McShane and Ken Cacciatore--and to next year's team.

YES OUR CHIX
LOVE THEIR STIX

The Weston Field Hockey team had another very successful season, going even further this year than last. To our delight, the "legendary" coach, Marie Butera, decided to come back and teach hockey after a resting period of two-years. Her fabulous team had three captains: Vivian Chong, an agressive center-back; Jessica Ferri, an agile forward; and Kate Rossiter, a super link. We had an excellent record this season. We didn't go undefeated, but you can't come much closer that 11 -1 -4.

Our team fought hard, and successfully, throughout the season, becoming D.C.L. champs for the second consecutive year. We had four players named D.C.L. All-Stars. The "stars" chosen were Vivian Chong, Suzie Delea, Jessica Ferri and Kate Rossiter. Our three honorable mentions were Karen Conway, Kathleen Galligan, and Dorsey Heine.

With our regular season ended, we went on to place 5th in the State Tournament. We defeated Framingham North in round one, and were ready to "kill" Bishop Fenwick in round two. It was a tough, even game which resulted in a 2-2 tie and suicide overtime. We were fifteen minutes into suicide when Bishop Fenwich rolled the ball into our goal cage.

It was a horror story to end the season with the Bishop Fenwick game, but we all realized that we had tried our best and fought hard every step of the way. We're proud we were a team that never gave up and always had hopes of winning.

We wish the best next season. -Vivian Chong

TOGETHER AS A TEAM

The Weston Girl's Soccer Team 1990 had an incredible season. During pre-season play, we tied Marlboro, the returning State Champs. Tying 'Concord-Carlisle in the first game of our season was a great way to start the regular season. This was quite an upset because we had lost to them 4-0 last year. and they eventually ended up winning the Division II State title.

Our team was on fire! Immediately following, we beat Newton-South with less than thirty seconds to go. Other highlights of our season included "embarrassing" Acton-Boxboro the second time around 3-1; we were the only team that beat them this season. We also destroyed Wayland, 3-0, who we haven't beaten in four years.

We set high standards for ourselves and even though we didn't achieve our ultimate goal, we had fun trying and going far beyond everyone's expectations. "And if you've done everything in your power and still fail - the truth of the matter is that you haven't failed at all," was Coach Donna Tanner's motto..

The future looks promising for Weston Girl's Soccer in 1991 with all of the talent, dedication and experience that the returning players possess. We were robbed of a placement in the state tournament this year, but this will only make the team work harder next year. We are confident that they will reap all of their deserved rewards.

ON THE TRACK

LEFT. The Weston Harriors led the pack in a Dual County meet against Wayland. The team went on to defeat Wayland.

The 1990 campaign commenced with a breath taking one-point triumph over nemesis Wayland High School. The Warriors had been favored to take the DCL title, so the Wildcat triumph was a crushing upset.

The Wildcats just seemed to rise to the competition where ever they traveled, capturing the Catholic Memorial Invitational and the Eastern Massachusetts Meets for the first time in twenty-five years.

As the gun exploded at the All-State Meet, the "Cats" set out to gain state-wide recognition. They came through with a shocking victory, out distancing nearest challenger Bishop Fenwick by 27 points. This was the first Cross-Country team from the Dual County League ever to win the state title in the thirty-five year history of the league.

Coach Duncan's twenty-eight year standing record improved to 213-75, as the Hill and Dalers went undefeated in Dual meets.

Senior Captain Rick Wright was named to the Mahon All-Middlesex Team, News Tribune Team and the DCL team. Luke Kiskaddon and Alex Goldman joined Wright on the DCL team. Coach Duncan was named the Boston Globe's All Scholastic Coach as a result of the team winning the "Grand Slam Title" and capturing the Mahon Cup.

Only one out of the top eight runners is a senior, so it looks like the Wildcats, coming off their best season ever, will shoot for a repeat of laurels next year.

The Girl's Team made a surprise qualification for the State Meet for the second time in three years. Led by Senior Captain Monica Swanson and Sophomore Jacqueline Wohlers, the girls placed very well in states. With a number of strong runners returning, the lady Cats should be able to improve on their 3-3 Dual record.

SWIM TEAM OUT OF SIGHT

The Swim Team had yet another successful season this year. Led by the tri-captains--Owen Bittinger, Alexander Fraser, and Hilary Hanson--the Red Tide swam to a 15 - 1 season.

The quartet of Owen Bittinger, Alex Fraser, Mike Foley and Payson Corbiere set a new school record, as well as a state record, in the 200 free style relay. School records were also set in the girls' 200 medley relay, the 200 free style relay, and the 400 free style relay. Hilary Hanson lowered her record in the 100 backstroke, and sophomore Maggie Bittinger broke the girl's 100 breast stroke record. DCL All-Star, Brad Whitridge, set new records in both the 6 and 11 dive competitions.

Seniors-- Michelle Neuman, Alex Cobb, Bobby Joe Whynot and Kim Greene-- finished their high school careers in Weston with outstanding swims at this year's State meet, returning to participate in separate Boys' and Girls' meets after Weston's four year domination of Coed States.

Weston's depth was due greatly to the improvement of key under-classmen. Mike Foley, Caitlin Corbiere, Jeb Gutelius, Peter Haas, Dave McFarland, and Steve Davenport made significant contributions. The same can be said for rookies Alex Lee, Chris Melling, and Matt Delduchetto.

All members of the team helped to make the Tide's nineteenth year one of its best.

TRACKER'S ON THE RUN

During the winter of 1990-91, the Weston High Track Team had a highly successful season; both girls and boys. The team began to emerge as a perennial powerhouse in Massachusetts. Led by Coach John Monz, Weston ripped through its opponents like a knife through butter. With this exceptional team there could be no excuse for a lack-luster performance. And their record proved that the Wildcats didn't let down on the oval.

The girls' team was led, in spirit, by captains Anisha Sandhu and Kate Rossiter and, in performance, by Tammy Peeples. Tammy achieved a Weston High high jump record of 5' 8" and had exemplary performances in the 55 hurdles. With great performances by Michelle Birgeneau, Jacqueline Wohlers, and other team members, the girls won the Dual County League title. They were also second in Class D.

The boys were led to many victories by co-captains Rick Wright and Natty Harrison and helped by exceptional performances by Marc Foster and Jamal Fuller.

The Wildcats placed first, in the Class D Meet, led by key performances from Natty Harrison, Rick Wright, Marc Foster, Jamal Fuller, Chris "Flash" Pierson, Luke Kiskaddon and Rurik Vandevenne.

Overall, the Weston Wildcats had a highly successful season and better things are sure to come in the future.

WRESTLING
ON THE MAT

This year's season went by with the four "D's" being installed in our hearts and minds.These four qualities--Determination, Desire, Dedication and Discipline-- pushed us to a record of 14 - 5.

Wrestlers "key" to the Wildcat's success were David Harding (119), tri-captain George Kampoures (135), Ty Cook (140), "Sully" (145), tri--captain Jon Moran (152), tri-captain Sam Hunt (160), and heavy-weight State Finalist Big "G" Kennedy. Some up and coming rookies are Tchano Hwang and Seth Wyman.

This year's squad wrestled with great success at many tournaments. These included the Belmont Tournament; the Westford Tournament, in which the team placed fourth; and the Framingham North Holiday Tournament, in which Kampoures placed second.

Other tournaments we competed in included the Sectionals in which we had several high-placing standouts. Moran, Hunt, Cook Kennedy and Sullivan were all very successful. Kennedy also placed second in the Division II State Tournament.

All in all, it was a very successful year for the Weston Wildcat Wrestling Team. The team members want to thank Coach Baldanza for molding us into a successful wrestling force.

SLAM, JAM
ON THE BALL

The Weston boys' basketball team finished the 1990-91 season with a disappointing 4-16 record. Season highlights were the four victories which came against Nashoba, Bedford, Hudson Catholic, and Newton South.

Despite the losing season Weston, led by coaches Pete Taberski and Mark Driscoll, was an exciting team to watch.

For the seniors, Dave Newhouse was a force on both the offensive and defensive boards. Derick Grant excited us with his aggressive jump shots and steals. Adam Gilvar surprised with his outside shooting. Chris McShane also hit well from the outside. Paul Strehle played good, all-around basketball.

For the juniors, it was three-point ace Jamie Neher in the spotlight with an amazing ability to light things up from the outside. Chris DiBenedetto was a force on the boards. Sekou Allen and Gregg Spector also made strong contributions.

Rounding out the Wildcat were sophomores Cy Butler, Levon Kurkjian, and Dwayne Simmons. These young men represent the future of Weston basketball.

SHOOT IT IN THE NET

The Weston Girls' Basketball team finished the season on a particularly high note, winning three of their last four games, thus improving the team's overall record to 4 and 16.

The Wildcats were led by their senior co-captains, Bridget MacDonnell and Leslie Wallace, who were joined by a talented supporting cast of players who continually excelled throughout the season.

The backcourt duo consisted of sophomores, Dima Reda and Stacey Jupiter, who sparked the team with their aggressive defensive play and strong, timely drives to the basket.

Forwards, Tricia DiBenedetto and Jen Weisman's uncompromising spirit and hard work raised the Wildcat's play to a new level.

Bridget MacDonnell and Shira Hamman handled the role of center. Hamman intimidated many players with her aggressive defense, while MacDonnell proved effective shooting from the perimeter.

The team overcame much frustration and disappointment, proving that under the leadership of Coach Hanya Bluestone, they could come together and be a formidable and competitive opponent.

Five East German states joined West Germany, while Berlin became the capital. Bonn has become the capital seat of government.

Soviet Union Reform.
Mikhail Gorbachev is struggling to unite and reform the Soviet Union. The country is in a critical economic condition. The communist party and the government agree that reform is needed, but disagree on how to achieve it. Gorbachev is seen here after a summit meeting with Bush.

Russian Food Shortage.
Food has become a scarce commodity in the Soviet Union. As shoppers grumbled, even bread--cheap and always plentiful--joined the growing list of hard-to-get items that included fruit and vegetables, meat, tobacco, paper, gasoline and more. Russia is finding it difficult to feed itself.

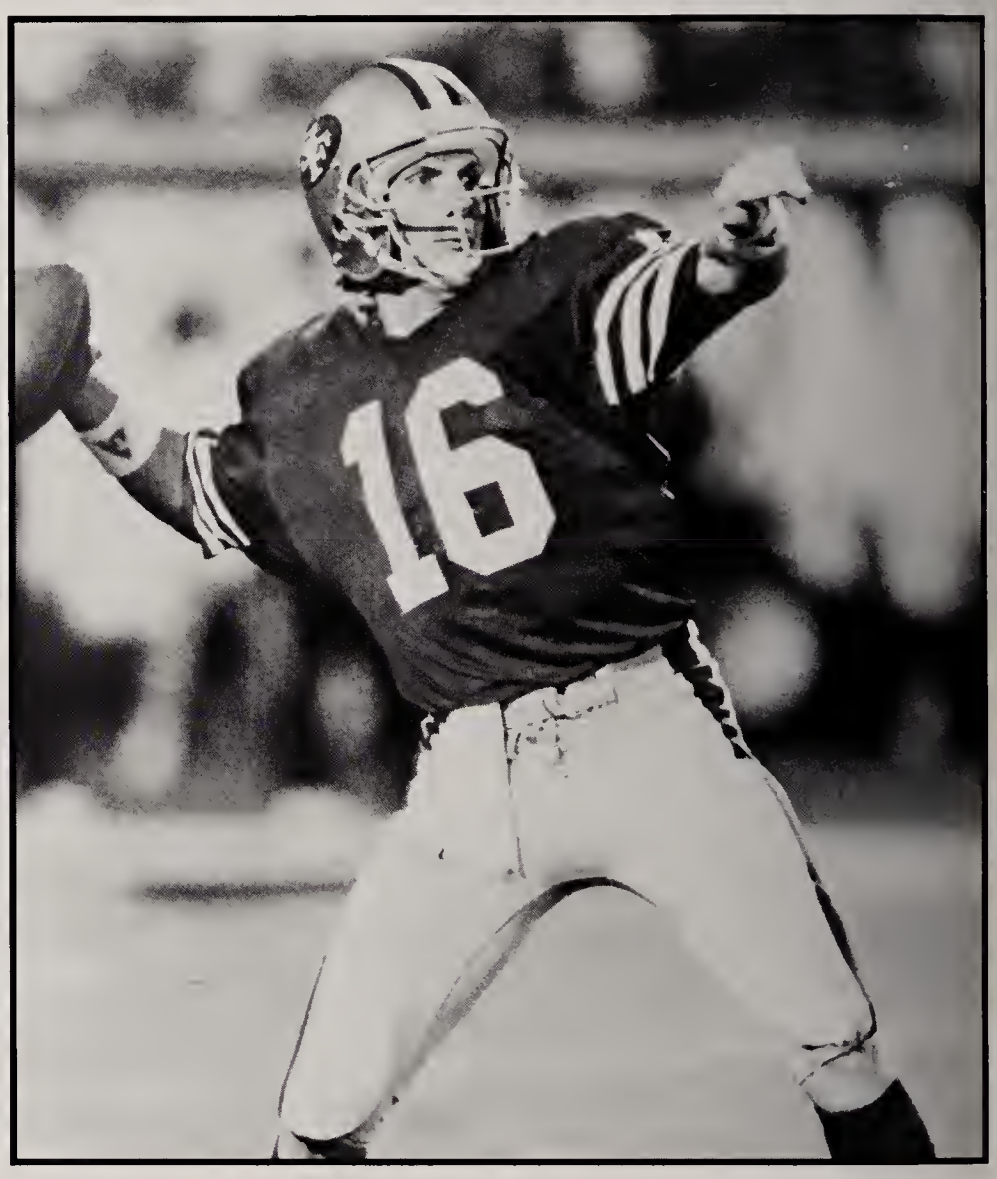
Not much needs to be said about Saddam Hussein, who, on August 2, 1990, invaded Kuwait. Within three days he had 120,000 Iraqui troops and 850 tanks in Kuwaitee territory, completely taking over the country. The UnitedNations, and the United States, responded by sending troops into Saudi Arabia and setting a deadline for Hussein to evacuate Kuwait. When Hussein failed to do so, war was initiated on Iraq. Now some of us, who thought that we would never see a war, are witnesses to a brutal one. There is not much that we can do except wish the soldiers the best of luck!

The United States reacted immeditaly to the invasion of Kuwait, building up a U.S. force of well over 100,000 troops in neighboring Saudi Arabia. Other nations also sent troops and financiăl support. And the United Nations voted for an economic embargo against Iraq. Pictured here are United States troops and tanks in the Persian Gulf area. GOOD LUCK AND WE MISS YOU!!!!!!!!!!!

In 1962, Nelsen Mandela was given a life sentence for plotting to overthrow the South African government. He became one of the worlds most influential prisoners. In February, 1990, at the age of 71, Nelson Mandela was released after lengthy negotiations with President F.W. deKlerk. "We have waited too long for our freedom. We can no longer wait," stated Mandela.

Children's best friend, Jim Henson, the creator of the Muppets died, on May 16, at the age of fifty-three from a severe case of pneumonia . He first created the famous Big Bird and Cookie Monster, then he reached higher with the show The Muppets. The one true statement that describes Mr. Henson is "he is certainly our puppet heritage." He was truly one of the great men of the year 1990-91 .

At thirty-four years, Joe Montana made history. He negotiated a $13 million contract for playing four years of football with the San Francisco 49ers. This is one of the richest contracts in NFL history. Montana led the 49ers to their fourth Super Bowl victory in the previous season. He is shown leading the 49ers to another victory. Now Montana has become the standard by which all others quarterbacks are measured.



"And we present the new Miss. America, Miss Illinois, Marjorie Judith Vincent." Miss. Vincent, a pianist of Haitian decent, wants some day to practice international law, but for now she will have to settle for being a third-year law student at Duke University and the reigning Miss. America.

A large number of the radio stations have been playing Johnny Gill's music. He is a part of the new generation of soul singers for the year 1990-1991. People like him so much that twelve millionof them went out and bought his latest album, which pumped it up to the top of the charts.

The Year That Was...Good, Bad & ??

Filmmaker Spike Lee (here with his sister) says he is looking for the day when he no longer has to sell himself to the movie industry like some new kid on the block. "Each time out is another struggle, another battle, another war," he says. But he seems to be winning the war. His second movie, "She's Gotta Have It," won him the Cannes Film Festival prize for best new director. The thirty-three-year-old Lee is on a roll. Watch out Cecil B. de Mille.

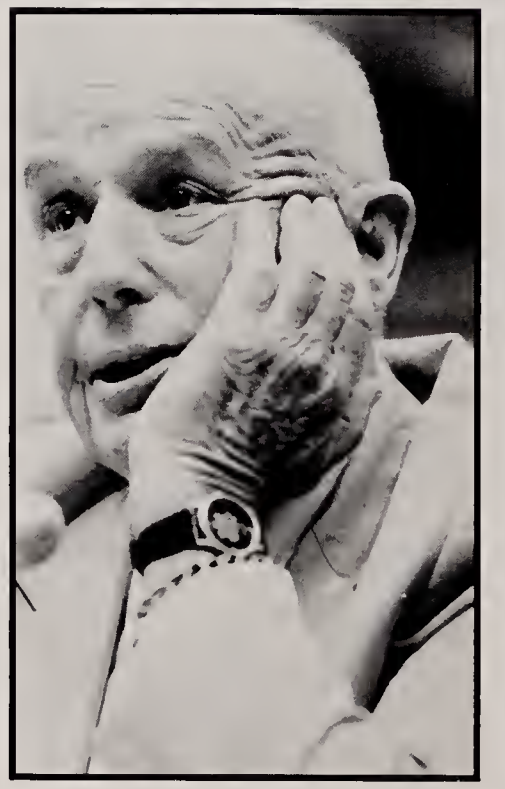
The three guys, who call themselves Bell Biv Bevoe, rolled unto the music scene this year in a big way. Their album, "Poison," hit the charts near the top and hasn't moved from there. And their single "Do Me" is a best seller.

The Trumps may look like the picture of marital and material bliss, but don't believe it. Trump's millions were slowly eroded in 1990 to the edge of financial disaster. And he and Ivana, his wife of thirteen years, separated after Trump was romatically linked with actress/model Marla Maples. "The Donalds" moved out of their 50-room triplex in New York's Trump Tower and talk of divorce has rumored all year.

Accomplishments

Nolan Ryan can still put plenty of heat on his fastball. And at the old age of forty-three - - in a game dominated by guys half his age - - that says something about his staying abilities. He holds more than forty major league records, including no-hitters (record in June of 1990), most one-hitters, and most strikeouts in his career. He got his name in the record books while playing for the New York Mets, the California Angels, the Houston Astros and the Texas Rangers. Relying on his ninety mile per hour fast ball, this superman became the twentith pitcher to win 300 games.

In grade school, Michael Bolton played the guitar and took requests from classmates to perform their favorite songs. When he was twelve he wrote his first song and three years later signed with Epic Records. And now he is a Grammy winner. Bolton poses here with the award that he won for best Male Pop Vocal category in the 1990 Grammy's. His latest album, "Soul Provider," is also high on the charts.



Janet Jackson skyrocketed to the top in 1990. She hit it big with "Rythmn Nation 1814." With the reputation of the Jackson Five behind her, it didn't take her long to find her place in the entertainment world.

The "savings and loan" business hit a brick wall in 1990. It is estimated that the losses --through bad management, bad loans, bad people -- will be in the billions. One of the good guys in all of this is L. William Seidman, the chairman of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, better known as the FDIC. The FDIC has been refunding money to people who have lost ALL their savings in failed S & Ls.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC

What do you think about this year's music censorship?
"I thing it is wrong because I believe in freedom of speech." -Kelly Grant '92

M.C. Hammer's second album, "Please Hammer Don't Hurt 'Em," sold close to 5 million copies and received two major awards at the American Music Awards. His album is one of the few rap albums in history to top the charts. When he puts on a show, it's complete with performers, costumes and some flashy footwork.

The all female group, En Vogue, seen here during a recent performance, has had a number of top 40 hits.

When Billy Joel sings, everyone listens. He played to standing-room-only concerts all over the world this year. His song "We Didn't Start The Fire," and his album, "Stormfront," have been solid sellers in 1990.

Rock star Phil Collins started out as a drummer in the group Genisis. He revived the group in 1976, stepping forward as a singer, then going solo. And he still is. His new album "But Seriously," is a hit.

RIGHT. And there they are! Those very glamorous salesladies, Hilary Hanson and Emily Wernick, taking a brief rest from their loads of Yearbook work.

BELOW. Dave McFarland, Mike Foley, and Chris Pierson have jus t purchased M+M 's and feel great that they have supported the Yearbook.

IN BUSINESS

Ads, and of course M & M's, are what pay for our yearbook, so ads are the most important part of the book. If you buy an ad, it is like buying your own space in the yearbook, and you can do whatever you want with it. There are all kinds of ads--business advertisements, personal messages to graduating seniors, or CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SENIOR CLASS. This year we might even have an ad from a prince!

The yearbook couldn't exist without the continued support of all our parents who become patrons or "advertisers." Local businesses are also a very important part of our sales.

If you knew how much the yearbook actually costs, you'd probably fall over. And you'd be amazed at how hard we, the staff, work to produce our yearbook and to find the funds to make it possible.

We encourage you, we implore you to BUY AN AD.

You've brought us joy and sunshine every day of your life. We are so-o-oo proud of you!! Always remember to reach for the "brightest star" and never give up your dreams.

We love you forever,
Mom, Dad, Kristin, Mike and Cookie

Saying goodbye is very hard for me to do because you've been there for me to look up to all my life.

I'll miss you and love you forever,

Mike

How can you say thank you to someone who has been a role model and a 'body guard' for 14 years of your life? All I can say is - watch out world cause my brother BATMAN is on his way!!

Thanx for everything.

I love you,

Kristin

Dearest A.J.,

May your future be full
Your world with laughter,
Your heart with love,
And your life with peace,
You're everything we hoped
You would be -

"MY PRIDE AND JOY"

On August 23, 1972, God granted me a "baby girl"
With tiny feet and tiny hands, plus an identity of your own
Your brother is my heart, but you are my "Pride and Joy"
Yes my loving daughter, Mommy spoil you on her own
But with all the spoiling Mommy have given you
My girl strive for a goal of her own.

You alone have given me the strength to go on
You have given me the faith that there is a God
You have given me the "PRIDE" to keep believing in me
You my daughter have given me "JOY"

On the day of your birth was my day
The day that "PRIDE and JOY" began
But now my daughter this is your day
The day that all your goals begin

So my daughter, take your identity and goals
Take them to the fullest on ends
So with the love and respect that holds
Take the feeling of knowing you are my "Pride and Joy."

-Mommy

Kelli,

Thank you for put - ting up with me for two years in high school and congratulations on making it another two years without me. You better be careful, you're running out of things to excel at! Remember, I love you.

BELOW. John Beevers smiles brightly as he thinks about his departure from Weston High School.

IN CLOSING

This is the end! It is goodbye to a world at war and goodbye to all anti-American sentiments.

But a little closer to home, it goodbye to the class of 1991 -- goodbye to those many friends we have made during the past thirteen years.

This year was colored by almost as many crises and accidents in the school, as in the world. Outside of Weston, we experienced the war in the Gulf and an economy which is still declining rapidly. Within the High School, we noted the sports events won or lost, and controversial parties.

However, now that the year has come to a close, we have the opportunity to look back and laugh about the often long and frustrating year.

It's now time to relax . . . until next year.

-Lindsay Swain

CAPTION. George Kampoures and Heather Jones get nostalgic while thinking of the good times they have spent together.

The End Is In Sight

Is it really over? The school year, that seemed to drag on and on, has finally come to a close. The Freshman look back and realize that their fears about suicidal workloads were unwarranted - or were they? No longer bearing the brunt of "Frosh" jokes, they are about ready to graduate to the elegant status of "Sophomore."

However, the Sophomores are now being, perhaps unwillingly, coaxed to the weighty title of Junior. As images of SAT's and grade pressures dance through their heads, they at least have the summer to rest easy.

And yes, Juniors, soon it will be your undeniable right to rule the school. There's nothing left to intimidate you - that is - other than those probing applications you will soon be fortunate enough to fill in.

The grade which is probably the most excited about the advent of summer is the Class of 1991. It is a sentimental and even frightening time, actually. Where do we go from here? The days of recognizing every face in the hallways are nearly over. Days of meeting new faces soon approach.

We are a random bunch of faces and ideas. We have been criticized, chastised and praised. We have been through it all together, but now it is time to say goodbye and face our futures individually.

-Lindsay Swain

LEFT. Don't get so excited. Tara Walpert and Angela Wong are impatient for the year to conclude so they can head off to their Harvard homes.

SUPPLEMENT 91

A WHITE SIGHT - GRADUATION

Graduation was the kind of picture card affair that one used to find on drugstore calendars: the emerald grass freshly cut, the seniors looking chaste and dignified in their white jackets and dresses, the Town Hall looming in the background, the proud parents. Disney couldn't have done better.

The rehearsals were something else, however. Something went kaflooie with the tape of "Pomp and Circumstance" at the first rehearsal and so the Principal was reduced to wah-wahing the tune with his adenoidal tenor while the Class of '91 stumbled around the gym with a style which could, at best, be described as syncopated. Some began on their left foot, some on their right. It looked like the Union troops coming back after the first battle of Gettysburg.

Things went better the second day. The tape worked and the guys got the hang of walking on the right and letting the girls cross in front of them. The girls got their pitch-pipe and sang the national anthem without a mike. And it was apparent that (1) the class could stand up and sit down in unison when their president signaled and (2) most of the time they chose not to. Attendance was around 70%.

Once, I would have spent a sleepless night worrying about how the thing would ever go right: Would they walk in unison? Would they know where to sit? Was this the end of Western Civilization? No more. I have learned that, in the end, Weston's seniors want to appear at their best, and somebody who acts at rehearsal as if he belonged in the primate exhibit at the zoo will stride into the Town Green like the British Ambassador when 5:15 P.M. comes on the first Friday in June.

And so it was. Gone was the embarrassment of Class Day with the juniors catcalling from the bleachers at the unfamiliar sight of the seniors in fancy dress. The band stopped playing. The piper led the faculty. Elgar's march began with the familiar fanfare and down the center aisle, now crowded with fathers bearing camcorders, came the seniors in perfect formation, the guys with the girls on their arms, the girls with carnations in theirs. It was picture perfect, the sort of scene which goes into a silver frame on Grandma's grand piano.

Later, the dignity would give out and senior males smoked cigars on the yacht club piazza, "bonding with each other" like a tribe of Iroquois. The girls were in jeans and every eye was dry. But not Mrs. Cottle.

-Bruce MacDonald, Principal

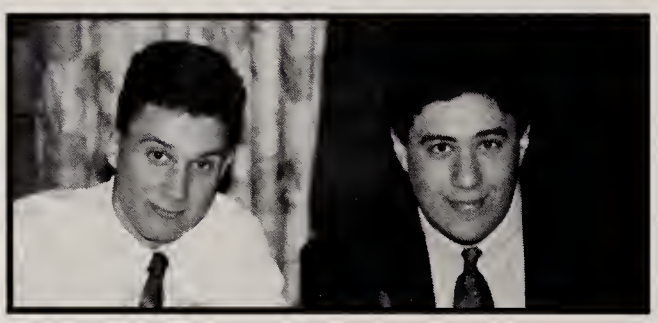
FAR ABOVE: During the performance of our national anthem, Alex Cobb, Kelli Murphy and Ken Cacciatore look out at the crowd of people congregated to see them graduate. There is a sense of accomplishment showing through.

ABOVE: Well, four years of high school have gone by and Rick Wright, Michele Fronk, Derek Grant and Angela Wong wait to receive their diplomas from Mr. MacDonald. As they sit there, they remember all the good things that have happened during their four years of high school-- or is it the after-graduation trip they are contemplating?

SENIOR BANQUET AND CLASS DAY

FAR ABOVE: At the senior banquet, Ali Forman shows why she was voted "most cheerful" as she gets a smile out of Sonya Murali, who was voted the "most political."

ABOVE: Paul Strehle gives us class-one insight as to the personality of the Class of '91.

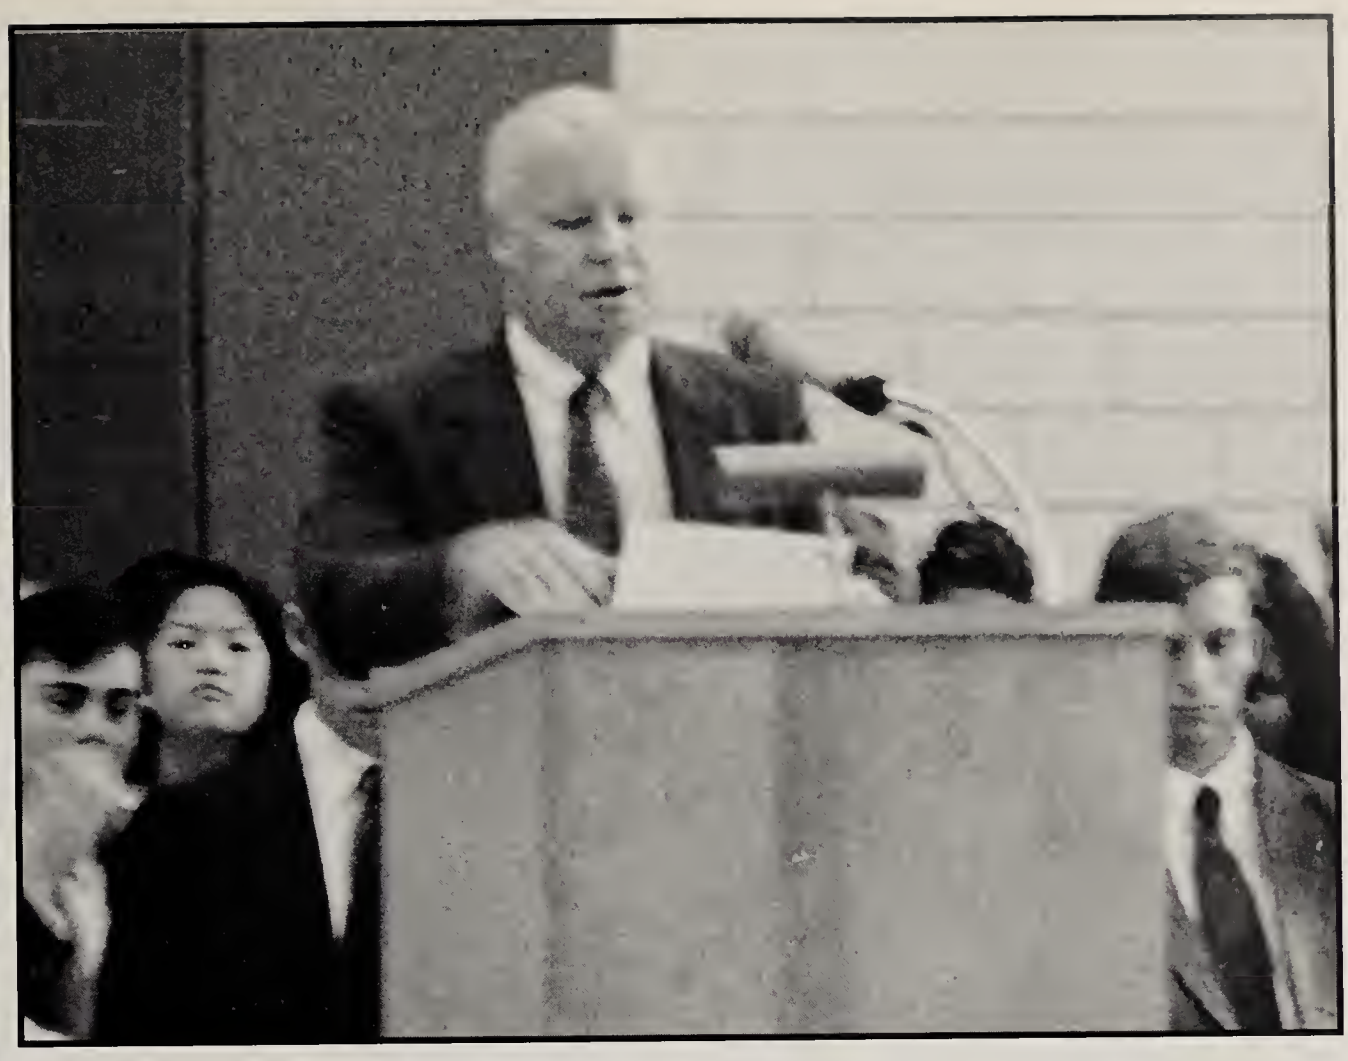


ABOVE: Clad in dress shirts and ties, Adam Gilvar and George Drake listen attentively to the band. Why aren't they dancing?

RIGHT: Both Anisha Sandhu and Nathan Wheelock appear to be in a good mood before dinner. Let's hope the awarding of the superlatives keeps them this way. (They both received "moodiest" awards.)

RIGHT: Every year Coach Foley gives out plaques to students that have received a varsity letter in an athletic sport. There are almost as many of these given out as there are Community Service Awards!

BELOW: Class Day: a day when awards are given to the graduating class! This picture does more than just define it , it shows the spirit of it.



ABOVE LEFT: Steve Harris' Class Day speech was one that will be remembered for times to come.

ABOVE: There are not many awards given from the art department, and Heather Spangler is delighted to be the recipient of one of them.

LEFT: The senior banquet was a night of eating, dancing, talking and just all around fun. Emily Lokich, Sam Hunt, Matt Shulkin and Keri Karofsky display the fun that was had by all.

"91 ON THE RUN"
SENIOR VARIETY SHOW

ABOVE: "91 ON THE RUN" was a great hit! John Beevers, Dave Newhouse, Sam Hunt and crew helped bring it alive with music.

RIGHT: And the BIG fight! Alex Cobb, playing the commentator, urges the fighters, Roman Savino and Rob Dicicco, to "come out fighting."

RIGHT: Steve Harris' portrayal of Mr. Gearan will never be forgotten. In this scene he "has it out" with the "Godfather" whose character and voice was portrayed expertly by Dave Sack.

BELOW: Tad Gutelius helps "psyche up" Rob Dicicco for his "fight" with tough guy Roman Savino.

RIGHT: Pianist Kelli Murphy and vocalist Becca Bagley entertain us.

ABOVE: Will Widugiris and Sam Hunt perfect the "Handshake." We didn't know handshakes could be so long and involved.

LEFT: Garland Sweeting and his gang--Andrew Chase, Owen Bittinger, Adam Gilvar, Alex Cobb, Chris McShane, Ken Cacciatore and Eric Ewald-perform their rendition of "Duke of Earl." The boxers and jackets are just too cool!
